COLLEGE NOTES

"CHARACTER BUILDING"

To students at Chapel

College "Character Building"

To students at Chapel

While with most of you character is rapidly crystalizing, for the process began early in life, you are however still young & more or less plastic & I may at best be able to call your attention to some important factors in character building which may be helpful to some of you. What I say will not be in the way of criticism, but as suggestions to make you pause & take account of your the kind of ~~yes~~ the process of character building that is going on with each of you!

All of you are building character — you began when boys & girls.

The process is going on whether working, dreaming or playing. Wherever you are or what you may be doing, you must carry on on this sublime task

You are old enough to be thoughtful and to quite fully appreciate the value of a good character & if you have been building with poor material to realize the ~~value~~ importance of changing & that sooner the better - Remember the good will infallibly become better & the bad certainly become worse, for vice, virtue & time are three things that never stand still
