Greetings to preachers

My high regard for the ministry. My respect for ministers. Those present when I gave my course of lectures know something of my high regard and love for the ministers.

Honor you who have dedicated your lives to the ministry and with the purpose to be faithful ambassadors of Christ.

Every church enterprise to succeed must have the preachers back of it.

For eighteen years as President of Missionary Society. I found we could get nowhere without the preacher.

Perhaps never more of them interested than now.

Next to the minister is the Chairman of the Official Board. Business men have a place and part in the church work and life. Both key men. Welcome both.

Enjoy fellowship. Good idea to come together.

Come tonight to consider the greatest enterprise of the church here in California - C.C.C.

If we are not conducting the affairs of the College properly, or as we should, we would be happy to have you come and advise with us.

We may have made mistakes. I am sure we have. This largely in an attempt, as Mr. Worthy said "to crowd into ten years what it has taken others fifty to accomplish":

We may have gone too fast. It is so difficult here where everything goes with such a rush, and the whole atmosphere is surcharged with that sort of spirit, to hold back and go slowly.

Generally we appreciate things in proportion to what we put into them. This does not necessarily mean money. It does however, mean thought and time, interest, love and life.

Give to any object these elements of yourself in a generous measure and that thing will be dear to you.

C.C.C. is dear to a large and increasing group of young people for what it has done for them. Done in the way of mental discipline and training, spiritual enlightenment and development and for charming and helpful friendships formed.

We are to build here a great educational institution - one with ideals and standards high, and to do this all of us must in every way give and do our best. Not only that but seek the guidance and inspiration of the Great Teacher, our Divine Master.

We must have the consciousness of His presence in our own hearts and in the life of the school.

I am happy to be associated with you in this glorious task.

Tremendously important and must be put over.

If we are to do the most for Jesus and His church must have trained and equipped leaders. Both in the pulpit and in the management of the church and in the community life.

Must have an institution for their training.

Elders, deacons, etc.

The value of College to Church.

A. Campbell realized its value when he started Bethany. What a need was great need Here is a demonstration. Eugene Bible University has made a large contribution to the Church.

Here in California are preachers from that institution. An institution that can turn out ministers like these, who are doing so much for the Kingdom, is to be congratulated.

"By their fruits ye shall know them," was the test of real value suggested by the Master during his public ministry. The Eugene Bible University does not fear such a test.

For example, some of our graduates, holding churches in California are: Dr. R. A. Moon, Gridley; Harry Tuttle, Hanford; S. H. Kimball, Galt; Bernard Davis, Sacramento; 10 Howard McConnell, San Jose; H. E. Mowe, Santa Cruz; Hugh Brunk, Petaluma; Lon Chamlee, San Francisco; James 11 McCallum, Modesto; Clyde Thurston, Corning; Emery Snyder, Lindsay; Loyd Morgan, Marysville; Louis Mick, Ceres; Francis Arant, Compton; Chas. Drake, Los Angeles; 15 Howard Stansbury, La Habra; D. L. Stivers, Corona; Linden 8 Leavitt, Whittier; Ralph Applebury, San Bernardino; Howard Fagan, Los Angeles.

These men are laboring along with the other great California pastors, for the evangelization of the world.

Dr. Alexander Campbell, in an address given at the laying of the cornerstone of Bethany College said some pertinent things, as follows:

"A college, well endowed, well furnished with buildings, with libraries, with apparatus and with a well educated corps of professors, is not quite so easily reared and consummated as Young America dreams or imagines.

We have had some little experience on this subject in the colleges of the Old World and the New. We have some volumes of theory and a few chapters of experience, which have been read and studied with care.

(1) Colleges are, in every point of view, the most important and useful institutions on earth, second only to the Church of Christ in their inherent claims upon Christian liberality and Christian patronage. If they be not worthy of the smiles, the prayers and the contributions of a Christian community, I know not, beyond the Church, what is, or ought to be, an appropriate and an approved object of Christian patronage and Christian liberality".

For years we longed for such an institution and prayed most earnestly for it. We have it now - one with good equipment, a large student body and high academic standing.

We have great institutions
Not only in buildings & Equipment -
But faculty - Bus. & Pub. Repl.

I am proud of those sent out Hearers tell us of some of these & what they do

Our main purpose to train young men for ministry

Wish closer cooperation with Churches

If this is to be Ch. Sch. the spirit & life of Ch. must flow ^{into} this

How many have visited C.C.C.? Chapel; Class Room; attended play; social function; football or basket ball game?

Can never fully appreciate the College or the work that is being done until you are acquainted with it and its activities.

Life is bigger, sweeter, better because they have had these richer experiences and have gotten a vision of a new life with its greater possibilities. A bigger and more interesting world has been opened up to them.

We need not therefore, marvel that C.C.C. is really dear to them.

May you who love the Church co-operate with the Trustees and Faculty and these young men and women in helping to make C.C.C. count for much in the lives of hosts of our young people and through them thus work for the growth and prosperity of the Church.

We can do no finer or more lasting piece of constructive work for the Church than to properly prepare and indoctrinate consecrated young people for service in our sacred cause and in life.
