Dr. Kakis to Present Legacy of Courage Lecture April 22

ORANGE, Calif., April 9, 2008 -- Chapman University's own Professor Emeritus of Chemistry and Holocaust survivor, Dr. Fredrick Kakis, will be giving a lecture in Irvine Lecture Hall on Tuesday, April 22nd at 8:45 a.m. as part of the Com 101 Rhetoric Series. Dr. Kakis was 9 years old in Greece during WWII. His immediate family was one of only two Jewish families that ended the war intact. This is the second time he has spoken at Chapman. He will have a book signing at noon in the Argyros bookstore. Dr. Kakis has spoken all over Southern California and he currently is attending book signings at major bookstores in the area, featuring the second edition of Legacy of Courage, the story of his work in the resistance and the narrow escapes he and his family endured during the Nazi occupation. He was recently honored in his homeland for the first Greek edition of his book. A documentary of his life is underway.
