Victoria Litherland

Young soprano lirico spinto Victoria Litherland has been on the Metropolitan Opera roster for the past several seasons. A 1985 Chapman graduate, Miss Litherland's Met radio broadcast debut came in 1995 as Musetta in La Bohème. After that triumphant debut Miss Litherland was asked to sing for the subsequent season.

Victoria Litherland has sung with many US theaters including Austin Lyric Opera, Fort Worth Opera, Lyric Opera of Kansas City, Pittsburgh Opera and the Spoleto Festival, USA. Recently, Miss Litherland covered Catherine Malfitano as Madama Butterfly at the Gran Teatre del Liceu of Barcelona. Miss Litherland made her Austin Lyric Opera debut in the title role of Tosca in the spring of 1999. She then reprised the Puccini heroine for the Fort Worth Opera and sang a performance of Verdi duets and arias from Otello, Aida, Falstaff and Don Carlo with Eugene Symphony Orchestra. Victoria Litherland's 1999-2000 season included her debut in the title role of Aida for Fort Worth Opera. She also covered the role of Nedda in Pagliacci for the Metropolitan Opera. In 2001 Ms. Litherland sang the role of Tosca for Miami Opera, and Tulsa Opera.

Upcoming events include Victoria's debut as Leonora in Il Trovatore, for Tulsa Opera, and Tosca for The Dallas Opera.

Equally at home on the concert stage Victoria Litherland made her Carnegie Hall debut singing the Brahms Requiem. Miss Litherland debuted Beethoven's Symphony No.9 with Las Cruces Symphony and Mendelssohn's Symphony No.2 with the Springfield Symphony. Recently, Miss Litherland reprised her Metropolitan Opera role in Philip Glass' The Voyage in a concert version at Carnegie Hall under the baton of Dennis Russell Davies.
