Welcome

Dear Friends,

Welcome to the final concert of the Wind Symphony's 2008-2009 season. In this performance we will showcase wind chamber music ensembles that have been preparing throughout the semester. At Chapman, chamber music is an integral part of our musical lives. Small ensembles demand that you not only play your part with the utmost perfection, but also that you are solely responsible for your share of the music making responsibilities. This in turn transfers to some wonderful engagement in larger ensemble performance. These students have responded to the challenge in spades and I am honored to be working with them.

Framing the chamber works will be two larger ensemble works: an organ-like Prelude and Fugue composed by one of Bach's teachers, Buxtehude, and we will finish the concert and semester with a rousing performance of Bernstein's Overture to Candide.

This concert marks the end of my first year at Chapman and my experience with the Wind Symphony. I have been honored to work with these fine young musicians. Together we have learned a great deal about fine music making. I am looking forward to 2009-2010 season for further growth and development. Great work everyone!

Dr. Paul Sherman

PAUL SHERMAN, conductor

*Conductor of Wind Symphony, Chapman University Conservatory of Music
Executive Director, Ensemble Green
Music Director & Conductor, Santa Clarita Youth Orchestras*

Dr. Paul Sherman is deeply involved in many levels of the musical world as a performer, conductor, and educator.

In addition to his work with Chapman University and the Wind Symphony, he is Music Director and Conductor of the Santa Clarita Youth Orchestras and Foundation, and Executive Director of ensembleGREEN (an ensemble promoting west coast new music), currently in residence at Chapman. Sherman is a sought out performer for both modern and period oboe works. He performs and records with ensembleGREEN, Santa Fe Pro Musica, Grammy Award-winning Southwest Chamber Music, Jealous Nightingale Baroque, Los Angeles Chamber Orchestra, Santa Barbara Chamber Orchestra. He has recorded with Southwest Chamber music, Yusef Lateef and the Dutz Quartet, the last two in the new music/Free Jazz idiom.

As a young musician he worked for the world-renowned Ojai Music festivals where he met Boulez, Ligeti and Messian, among others; He additionally studied period oboe with Steven Hammer and the Bach ensemble. These experiences have led him to a career centered around the performance and teaching of old and very new music. These genres have many similarities; both are based on affect, rhetoric and gestural performance techniques.

As a professor at USC, he directs the baroque oboe band and teaches period performance. He teaches history and performance classes for College of the Canyons and Glendale Community College. His undergraduate education was spent studying with Allan Vogel at CalArts and he received both his M.M and D.M.A from the University of Southern California with emphases in instrumental conducting, music history and baroque performance practice.
