Finger Songs
In these pieces various means are used to bring to the keyboard the syllabic accents, timbres and articulations of speech or vocal music. Off-beat dissonances resolve to on-beat pure tones. Syncopations flit around beats present or implied. Here and there, a silence carries an accent. Moods range from childlike, to adolescent, to aged reflection. One piece – the listener is to guess which – is a transcription of a song written by the composer at age seventeen. The inspiration throughout is the wonderful musicianship of the dedicatee, Nadia Shpachenko – though as composing progressed, the antics of her wise and impish twins, Ace and Mondy, began to work their way into the proceedings.

–Peter Yates (2013)

Part Suite-a
Part Suite-a scrambles elements familiar from Baroque suites and partitas with other musical flavors. The introductory “Passacaglialude” follows the usual form of a passacaglia, which is unified by a repeating bass line and series of chords. Here the seven-measure phrase consists of the same six-note chord throughout, in seven different voicings. The phrase gradually speeds up. “Lullabande” features the strong second beat of the sarabande in a mostly serene lullaby. “Scherzoid” is generally playful, in the manner of scherzo, though it is perhaps occasionally threatening, in a friendly sort of way.

Part Suite-a was written for Nadia Shpachenko, whose sparkling musicality is a constant inspiration.

–Tom Flaherty (2013)

Cretic Variations
The cretic foot, in poetic meter, consists simply of the stress pattern long-short-long. As in, say, the childish taunt “lah di dah” or Shakespeare’s “Shall I die? Shall I fly?” - not, most would admit, among his best works. Something about this rhythm - a bit sing-songy - lends itself better to Dr. Seuss than to more serious poetic endeavors. It is simple, and almost inherently playful.

At the same time, in music, this simple rhythm is enormously versatile, and can be alternately thunderous and playful, melancholy and spirited. Cretic Variations explores this basic rhythm and its expressive potential exhaustively - there is scarcely a measure in which this rhythm or some closely-related version of it is not sounding somewhere on the instrument.

–James Matheson (2013)

Picture Etudes
In November of 2011, I received a commission from the Kansas City Symphony and the Nelson-Atkins Museum of Art to write a 21st-century Pictures at an Exhibition. The idea seemed both intriguing and ambitious, and given my own interest in visual art, I welcomed the challenge. After conceptualizing the piece for six months, and visiting the Nelson-Atkins on three different occasions, I decided to compose a series of studies.
Airdancing is dedicated to Nadia Shpachenko and Genevieve Feiwen Lee. Their artistry is the real inspiration for the piece.

As I worked on this piece, images of falling, floating, and flying often came across my computer monitor. Stunning videos of Felix Baumgartner’s recent jump from space, the second stage of a rocket falling from the edge of space into the ocean, and people jumping off cliffs in wing suits were in the back of my mind as I began the piece. The fascinating and unprecedented computer monitor. Stunning videos of Felix Baumgartner’s recent jump from space, the second stage of a rocket falling from the edge of space into the ocean, and people jumping off cliffs in wing suits were in the back of my mind as I began the piece. The fascinating and unprecedented viewings of the artwork, after my selections had been made. These original notes helped dictate the form, style, and musical arc of each movement, and ultimately the entire piece.

Three Pierrots (based on Albert Bloch’s painting, Die Drei Pierrots Nr. 2): Comedic, naïve, and excited. A triad will represent the three Pierrots, and throughout the movement the triad will be turned upside down, on its side, and twisted in every possible way. The form will be through-composed. End big.

Olive Orchard (Vincent Van Gogh’s painting, Olive Orchard): Extended impressionism. Colorful, full of love. Perhaps a meeting place for two lovers. Start thin, gradually build to an expansive texture, end colorful. ABC (C references A to show the organic growth of the piece).

Mini’s World (Joan Miro’s painting, Women at Sunrise): Child-like, yet delirious. There appears to be a sexually ambiguous tone. Try something new, spontaneous, bouncy, tribal, and raw.

—Adam Schoenberg (2013)

As I worked on this piece, images of falling, floating, and flying often came across my computer monitor. Stunning videos of Felix Baumgartner’s recent jump from space, the second stage of a rocket falling from the edge of space into the ocean, and people jumping off cliffs in wing suits were in the back of my mind as I began the piece. The fascinating and unprecedented video of a giant squid swimming in its natural habitat was released as the piece progressed. All the electronic sounds are fairly simple manipulations of toy piano samples. Most of the pitches in the piece come from the first chord in the piano part.

Airdancing is dedicated to Nadia Shpachenko and Genevieve Feiwen Lee. Their artistry is the real inspiration for the piece.

About the Artists

Pianist Nadia Shpachenko-Gottesman has performed extensively in solo recitals and with orchestras in major venues across North America, Europe and Asia. Described by critics as a "truly inspiring and brilliant pianist...spellbinding in sensitivity and mastery of technique," she recently toured Mexico with Orquesta de Baja California, performed with the Kharkov Philharmonic, the Ukrainian National Symphony and the Ukrainian National Radio Symphony Orchestras in Ukraine and the San Bernardino Symphony Orchestra in California. An enthusiastic promoter of contemporary music, she has given world and national premieres of numerous piano, string piano and toy piano works by composers such as Elliott Carter, Henry Cowell, George Crumb, Tom Flaherty, Yury Ishchenko, Leon Kirchner, Dave Kopplin, James Matheson, Adam Schoenberg, Alexander Shcherbetskiy, Iannis Xenakis, Peter Yates, and others.

As a distinguished chamber musician, Dr. Shpachenko has most recently collaborated with such renowned artists as Emanuel Borok, Martin Chalifour, David Korevaar, Genevieve Lee, Julie Landsman, Ronald Leonard, Jerome Lowenthal, Victor Rosenbaum, and the Biava String Quartet.

Dr. Shpachenko is currently Associate Professor of Music at Cal Poly Pomona University, Adjunct Professor of Music at Claremont Graduate University, and piano faculty at the Montecito International Music Festival. In addition, she has recently served as visiting faculty at Pomona College, guest lecturer at the California Institute of the Arts, Artist in Residence at the University of Nevada Las Vegas, and Associate Faculty at the Sarasota International Music Festival. Winner of many international piano competitions, Dr. Shpachenko performed at the International Holland Music Sessions, Aspen, Cilburn, Manchester, Orford, Sarasota, Music Academy of the West, Tel-Hai, and Saluzzo International Music Festivals. She completed her DMA and MM degrees at the University of Southern California, where she was awarded the title of Outstanding Graduate. Her principal teachers included John Perry, Victor Rosenbaum, and Victor Derevianko.

Please visit www.ullanta.com/nadia to learn more about Dr. Nadia Shpachenko and listen to some of her performances.

Peter Yates is a composer and guitarist. He has recorded and performed as a soloist and as a member of the Elgart/Yates Guitar Duo since 1975, making 15 European tours and premiering more than 100 works. The Elgart-Yates Duo have co-written a pioneering book on the prepared guitar and were selected by the National Endowment for the Arts “Arts America” International Touring Roster, and have performed at venues ranging from Lincoln Center and Italian Radio (RAI) to the jazz clubs of Salzburg and Brussels. In addition to composing many pieces for one or more guitars, his work includes two staged operas with original sets and artwork, chamber music and a film-cantata. Yates has received grants or awards from the California Arts Council, the USIA, the Swiss Helvetia Fund, Danish State Arts Commission, the Santa Monica Arts Council, and the NEA.

Yates studied guitar under the late Theodore Norman at UCLA, where Yates received his

M.F.A. in guitar performance. He received his D.M.A. in composition from the Claremont Graduate University. Yates is Professor of Music at Cal Poly Pomona, where he directs the guitar ensemble and teaches music theory, and an Adjunct Assistant Professor of Guitar at UCLA.

Tom Flaherty has received grants, prizes, awards, and residencies from the National Endowment for the Arts, National Endowment for the Humanities, American Music Center, the Pasadena Arts Council, the Massachusetts Council for the Arts and Humanities, the Delius Society, the University of Southern California, Meet the Composer, and Yaddo. His music can be heard on the Bridge, Albany, Klavier, SEAMUS, Capstone, and Advance labels.

Published by American Composers Editions, G. Schirmer, Inc., and NCI Publications, his music has been performed throughout Europe and North America by such new music ensembles as Volti and Earplay in San Francisco, Dinosaur Annex in Boston, Speculum Musicae, and Odyssey Chamber Players in New York, Concorde in Dublin, Gallery Players in Toronto, XTET and Ensemble GREEN in Los Angeles; and by such performers as soprano Lucy Shelton, guitarists David Starobin, Peter Yates and Matthew Elgart, organist William Peterson, and pianists Genevieve Feiwen Lee, Susan Svrcvcek, Charlotte Zelka, Nadia Slepchenko, Aron Kallay, Vickie Ray, and Karl and Margaret Kohn.

A member of Quartet Euphoria, he is currently John P. and Magdalena R. Dexter Professor of Music at Pomona College and is an active cellist in the Los Angeles area.

Brooklyn-based composer James Matheson (b. 1970) has rapidly emerged as one of the most distinctive, vital, and creative musical voices of his generation. Among his recent commissions are works for the New York and Los Angeles Philharmonics, the Chicago and Albany Symphony Orchestras, Carnegie Hall and the Borromeo String Quartet. The American Academy of Arts and Letters honored him in December, 2011, with the Charles Ives Living, an award of $100,000 a year for 2 years (2012-2014).

In September of 2009, James joined the Los Angeles Philharmonic as Director of the LAP’s innovative Composer Fellowship Program. He is also Artistic Director of Neighborhood Classics at P.S. 142, a concert series that raises money for one of New York’s most underserved schools through concerts aimed at promoting classical music in the local community.

In addition to the Ives Living, Matheson has received fellowships and awards from the Guggenheim Foundation, the Bogliasco and Sage Foundations, ASCAP, and the Robbins Prize. Published by Theodore Presser Company, Matheson has held residencies at Yaddo and the Liguria Study Center, and has been a fellow at the Aspen Music Festival and the Norfolk Chamber Music Festival.

About the Artists

Upon completing his Doctorate at The Juilliard School in 2010, Adam Schoenberg has received commissions from the Aspen Music Festival & School, Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, Kansas City Symphony, Lexington Philharmonic, and Los Angeles Philharmonic, to name a few.

Recently appointed the 2013/14 Composer-in-Residence of the Lexington Philharmonic, Schoenberg was the first Composer-in-Residence for the Kansas City Symphony under Michael Stern’s tenure (2012/13 season). Additional residencies include the Atlanta School of Composers, Aspen Music Festival and School’s M.O.R.E program, a position he has held since 2010, and the 2012 BMI Composer-in-Residence for the Blair School of Music at Vanderbilt University. He was a 2009 and 2010 MacDowell Fellow, and was the First Prize winner at the 2008 International Brass Chamber Music Festival for best Brass Quintet. In 2007, Schoenberg was awarded ASCAP’s Morton Gould Young Composer Award, Juilliard’s Palmer-Dixon Prize for Most Outstanding Composition, and a Meet the Composer Grant. He also received prizes from the American Academy of Arts and Letters, ASCAP and the Society for New Music.

A committed educator, Schoenberg is on faculty at UCLA where he teaches composition, orchestration, and theory. In 2012, Adam Schoenberg entered into a publishing agreement with Ricordi London (part of the Universal Music Publishing Classical group) as their first-ever American classical composer.
Dear Alumni, Parents and Friends:

Last year we welcomed over 11,000 audience members to our performances, concerts, recitals and events, making it our best attended year ever. In addition to our student performances, our season always includes choreography, direction and concerts by our stellar faculty and visiting artists who are accomplished professionals, each with a true passion for the arts.

As a lover of the arts, you have a crucial role to play to ensure our success and the success of the students who are at the heart of all we do. It is my hope that you will help provide our students with the tools and resources they need with your gift to the Fund for Excellence.

A gift to the Fund directly supports these College priorities:
- Production costs for the 200-plus live performances of dance, music, theatre and opera the College produces each year;
- Recruitment of professional visiting artists for technique and master classes;
- Scholarships and travel funds for our student touring ensembles and conferences.

Performances like the one you are about to see are an important part of our students' academic and artistic curriculum, exposing them to experiences that hone their artistic sensibilities. Our students graduate with more training, more experience and more professional opportunities to launch their careers in the performing arts and performing arts education.

Each one of our students will benefit from your decision to support the College. With your gift, you will be a part of a family of individuals who demonstrate, year after year, their commitment to developing the talents of young artists. I hope you join us not only because you value the arts, but because you want to invest in our next generation of artists.

Enjoy the performance, and I look forward to seeing you again at our performances throughout the year.

Sincerely,

Dale A. Merrill, Dean
Thank you to our Fund for Excellence Supporters

The College of Performing Arts relies on your generous support of the Fund for Excellence, helping to provide our students with valuable learning experiences as they become great artists. Invest in our next generation of artists.

The College of Performing Arts brings you the most vital and powerful part of our curriculum – live performances of dance, music and theatre. This extraordinary hands-on training for our next generation of artists is possible only through your generosity.

By helping to maintain the resources essential to our curriculum, you allow the College to offer a dynamic learning environment that nurtures the creativity of our students with one-on-one training, ensuring they master their craft. We can produce exceptional performances like what you are about to see only with support from people committed to excellence in performing arts. People just like you.

Help support the College of Performing Arts’ talented young students as they transform into tomorrow’s professional artists. To learn more about giving to the College of Performing Arts, please contact Liz Crozer, Director of Development, at (714) 289-2085 or crozer@chapman.edu.
