Ave Maria (sung in Latin)
Zoltan Kodaly

Composed in 1935 by Hungarian composer Zoltán Kodály, this Ave Maria, has a melodic flavor typical of Hungarian music based on pentatonic scales. Using a La pentatone/minor pentatonic scale, for melodic material, this work is reverent and mystical. With a simple text driven form it is a beautiful marriage between words and music.

*Hail Mary, full of grace, the Lord is with thee.
Blessed art thou among women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, Jesus.
Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners, now and in the hour of our death. Amen.*

Selections from Magnificat, RV 610
Antonio Vivaldi

These two selections from the baroque era are solo movements of the Magnificat composed by Antonio Vivaldi. Both in allegro tempi, Et exultavit, was originally scored as a duet for alto and tenor; Esurientes a duet for sopranos. The Magnificat is a multi-movement choral work for soloists, mixed chorus, 2 oboes, strings, and continuo.

Et exultavit (sung in Latin)

*And my spirit rejoices in God my Savior.
For He has regarded the lowliness of His servant.
Behold, from henceforth, I will be called blessed by all generations.*

Esurientes (sung in Latin)

He has filled the hungry with good things, and sent the rich away empty.

Dixit (sung in Latin)
Johann Michael Haydn (Psalm 110)

Johann Michael Haydn, who was a well-respected composer and church musician during his lifetime, composed Dixit. He was Joseph Haydn’s younger brother. His peers, including W.A. Mozart, admired his compositions. This setting of Psalm 110 was set for SSA choir, two horns, strings and continuo.
Program Notes, Texts and Translations

The Lord said to my Lord:
sit at my right hand,
while I make your enemies
a footstool for your feet.

The Lord of Zion shall send forth the scepter of your power to rule over your enemies.

Your strength was with you in the beginning with the holy ones:
I begot you so in the womb
since the light of the first day.

The Lord has sworn and oath
and will not repent it:
you are the priest for eternity
according to the order of Melchisedek.

The Lord at your right hand,
on the day of judgment
will destroy all,
and shatter heads in many lands.

He shall drink from the river of peace
on his way;
and lift up his head in triumph.

Sing creations music on
Stephen Paulus

This work from Songs Eternity is energetic and uplifting. The poem and the musical setting celebrate life and nature. The composer brings the text to life employing mixed meters, closed harmonies, and great dynamic contrast. We dedicate this performance to Stephen Paulus’s memory. He passed away on October 19th, 2014.

Ouvre ton Coeur (sung in French)
Georges Bizet

With a strong Spanish flair, a la Carmen, ouvre ton coeur is a call to fall in love. This French art song’s text was written by Louis Delatre.

Widmung (sung in German)
Robert Schumann

Published in 1840, Widmung is a beautiful German lied and is the first of Myrthen Op. 25, a song cycle which includes 25 other songs. Published in 1840. Schumann dedicated this work to his wife, Clara as a wedding gift.

You my soul, you my heart,
you my bliss, o you my pain,
you the world in which I live;
you my heaven, in which I float,
o you my grave, into which
I eternally cast my grief.

You are rest, you are peace,
You are bestowed upon me from heaven,
That you love me makes me worthy of you;
Your gaze transfigures me;
You raise me lovingly about myself;
My good spirit, my better self!

Wana baraka (sung in Swahili)
Arr. Shawn Kirchner

In this arrangement, Shawn Kirchner, sets a traditional Kenyan song, in a manner that feels spontaneous and builds in intensity from beginning to end. The arranger acquired the tune by oral tradition and portrayed the song as authentically as possible.

They have blessings, those who pray;
Jesus himself said so. Alleluia!
They have peace,
they have joy,
they have well-being.
Sister my sister
Sue Johnson

This hymn-like song conveys a message of solidarity and love. The composer wrote this song after touring Australia with an ensemble (all women with small children), during which she felt long lasting bonds were made.

Massenet's Chanson des bois d'Amarante (Songs from the Amaranth Woods) is a five-movement cycle for vocal quartet and piano. In its third movement, the poet speaks to the flowers, warning them of the wind that boasts far too much of faithful love. The poet suggests that if a love is truly faithful, it need not be verbose. The second of Dixe Chansons, Op. 68, Saint-Saëns' "Les fleurs et les arbres" is wholly pastoral in character. The sentiment of poem (authored by the composer) is that all things of nature bring solace to the human condition.

Chères fleurs (Marc Legrand)

Dear flowers, do not trust anymore. The wind that brushes past you with its wing! It speaks too much of faithful love. Faithful love speaks less.

Les fleurs et les arbres (Camille Saint-Saëns)

The flowers and the trees,
The bronzes, the marbles,
The golds, the enamels,
The sea, the springs,
The mountains and the plains
Console our pains.
Eternal nature,
You seem more beautiful
To a heart in sorrow,
And art reigns over us,
Its flame illuminates
The laughter and the tears.

Charles Villiers Stanford is perhaps best remembered for being the teacher of several highly regarded English composers (including Gustav Holst and Ralph Vaughan Williams) and for a handful of sacred pieces and secular part songs. Quick! We Have But A Second is trifle of a patter song, but The Blue Bird is quite another case—a wonderful expression of the tranquility of a beautiful moment in a natural setting. Stanford sets apart the sopranos in this piece, accompanying their melody by the lower voice parts in suspended, long held chords. The "dean" of early 20th century English composers Ralph Vaughan Williams adapted the cantata In Windsor Forest from his opera Sir John in Love. Best known from that cantata is "See the Chariot at Hand," subtitled "Wedding Chorus." Set to the beloved words of Ben Jonson (1572-1637), the piece features sweet, expansive harmonies and long breathed lyrical phrases hovering over the running triplets of the piano accompaniment.
Program Notes, Texts and Translations

Quick! We Have But a Second (Thomas Moore)

Quick! we have but a second,
Fill round the cup while you may;
For time, the churl hath beckon’d,
And we must away, away!
Grasp the pleasure that’s flying,
For oh, not Orpheus’ strain
Could keep sweet hours from dying,
Or charm them to life again.
Then, quick! we have but a second,
Fill round the cup while you may;
For Time, the churl hath beckon’d,
And we must away, away.

The Blue Bird (Mary Coleridge)
The lake lay blue below the hill,
O’er it as I looked, there flew
Across the waters, cold and still,
A bird whose wings were palest blue.
The sky above was blue at last,
The sky beneath me blue in blue
A moment, ere the bird had passed,
It caught its image as it flew.

The Triumph (Ben Jonson)
SEE the Chariot at hand here of Love,
Wherin my Lady rideth!
Each that draws is a swan or a dove,
And well the car Love guideth.
As she goes, all hearts do duty
Unto her beauty;
And enamour’d do wish, so they might
But enjoy such a sight,
That they still were to run by her side,
Through swords, through seas, whether she would ride.
Do but look on her eyes, they do light
All that Love’s world compriseth!

Program Notes, Texts and Translations

Do but look on her hair, it is bright
As Love’s star when it riseth!
Do but mark, her forehead’s smoother
Than words that soothe her
And from her arch’d brows such a grace
Sheds itself through the face,
As alone there triumphs to the life
All the gain, all the good, of the elements’ strife.

Have you seen but a bright lily grow
Before rude hands have touch’d it?
Have you mark’d but the fall of the snow
Before the soil hath smush’d it?
Have you felt the wool of beaver,
Or swan’s down ever?
Or have smelt o’ the bud o’ the brier,
Or the nard in the fire?
Or have tasted the bag o’ the bee?
O so white, O so soft, O so sweet is she!

The combination of Javier Busto’s Agnus Dei and Jake Runestad’s Peace Flows into Me may seem an unlikely pairing. The text of the former is an ancient Latin Mass fragment, and the latter work is set to a secular love poem of Sara Teasdale. Their respective styles do not match, and the composers of each have quite disparate backgrounds. Sixty-five year of age, Busto is a Spanish (Basque Country) medical doctor and largely self-taught musician, while Runestad is a 28-year-old graduate of the Peabody Conservatory. Also, the two works’ respective keys or tonality do not match, making the transition from one to another seem curious or even jarring. However, the aspect of peace is indeed common to both, and that feature together with the image of Teasdale’s peacefully ebbing tide was the inspiration for linking the two works together, one flowing into the other.

From the score of Nyon Nyon, Jake Runestad includes the following note:

Nyon Nyon is an exploration of the effects that one can produce with the human voice. I created original words to achieve varieties of colors and mixed and matched them within the ensemble to produce a diverse sonic landscape. Incorporating effects similar to a flanger, wah-wah pedal, drum and bass, and synthesizers turns the choir into a full-jledged vocal orchestra.
Program Notes, Texts and Translations

Agnus Dei (text from the Roman Mass)
Lamb of God who takes away the sins of the world, have mercy on us...grant us peace.

Peace (Sara Teasdale)

Peace flows into me
As the tide to the pool by the shore;
It is mine forevermore,
It ebbs not back like the sea.

I am the pool of blue
That worships the virid sky;
My hopes were heaven-high,
They are all fulfilled in you.

I am the pool of gold
When sunset burns and dies—
You are my deepening stars,
Give me your stars to hold.

Swedish musician Sten Killman is known for his arrangements of folk music from Scandinavia, the Middle East, and Haiti. Wangol is a Haitian folk song that serves as an allegory for a country in transition. The character “Wangol” is a voodoo spirit that is addressed in the song that expresses the Haitian people’s hope for positive change and a brighter future.

A native of Los Angeles, Byron J. Smith received his bachelors and masters degrees in music from California State University-Long Beach and California State University-Los Angeles, respectively. He is the founding director of the professional ensemble The Spirit Chorale of Los Angeles, a sixteen-member ensemble that specializes in gospel music and that has recorded his numerous compositions and arrangements.

Wangol (Traditional Haitian)
Wangol, you are leaving. When will I see you again? The country is changing.

Dear Alumni, Parents and Friends:

One of the most critical skill sets our students will acquire during their time at Chapman is artistic career development to help prepare them for success after graduation. To accomplish this requires a quality and rigor of instruction that is second to none – implemented by faculty members who are not only superb teachers, but successful working artists themselves. And it involves patrons of the arts, like you, who embrace the value the arts bring to our society and the impact the arts have on our communities.

With the construction of the new Musco Center for the Arts, never has a community of music, theatre and dance enthusiasts been more essential to the quality of education and opportunities for our emerging artists here in the College of Performing Arts. Your role as a friend, family member and Fund for Excellence supporter means more to our gifted students than ever before.

We invite you to join our community of loyal alumni, parents and community partners who are devoted to developing the talents of the next generation of artists with a gift to the Fund for Excellence. The Fund for Excellence supports the College of Performing Arts initiatives, ensuring our ability to continue providing educational and performing opportunities necessary for our students to grow into successful artists. Your gift impacts our program by:

• Providing life-changing master classes with world-renowned professionals on campus;
• Ensuring top-notch community productions of classic and contemporary art;
• Strengthening our ability to attract the brightest and most talented students, globally, through increased scholarships, program enrichment, and performance travel funds.

Performances like the Opera Chapman production you are about to see this evening are a prime example of the type of programing our Fund for Excellence brings to our students and community. We are proud to have presented over 110 productions last year with over 12,000 people in attendance, and I know you have enjoyed and valued the performing arts opportunities we provide. I hope you will take the next step by making a gift to our Fund for Excellence. Please know that each one of our students benefits from your decision to support the College; because of their rigorous training at Chapman, our graduates are performing in major opera houses across the country. With your gift, you will be a part of a family of individuals who demonstrate, year after year, their commitment to developing the talents of young artists. I hope you join us not only because you value the arts, but because you believe in and want to invest in our next generation of artists.

Enjoy the performance, and I look forward to seeing you again at one of our many performance events throughout the coming year.
