AN EDWARDS AND MULDER SERVICE
Star of Gold

The Bethlehem Star has turned to gold,
   And so—alas—has mine,
Where once against the window-pane
   I saw a blue star shine.

In Christmas' past, a tinseled one
   In its accustomed place
On tip of lighted balsam tree
   Lit up his strong, young face.

But in that hour—on battlefield
   Or out on thundering main—
I know the Star of Bethlehem
   Shone on his face again.

I like to think its beacon light
   Was smiling from above,
The day God took him by the hand
   And led him home to Love.
