Hello Sweetness:

Arrived at Tonopah last night at 10:00 very very tired but happier than I've ever been in my lifetime. Went to work at mid-night until 08:00 this morning - just about dead on my feet though. Funny, but even though I knew there was no mail from you I still expected a letter from you.

Tonight I'm writing you while waiting for time to pass before going to work because I'm thinking of a certain wonderful girl in L.A. - guess who it is? To be frank Darling I was and am happy that you had butterflies that last morning we were together. That exhibition told me more than words can express. I really wasn't angry when it happened - I had to use whatever means I could at the moment to relieve you of that feeling. Don't worry or be afraid of your feelings for me - I'll always be honest with you and you won't have any regrets in the future I'm sure. I'm happy though that you are so sensitive and even if you won't express your feelings in words conditions like that will tell me what I want to know. You know I Love "You Dear!"

Say "Hello" to those two bundles of sweetness you have for sisters. Next month let's try to show them a good time - something they will always remember, they deserve it.

Time to go to show and then work Darling so will close with a big hug and kiss until I hear from you.

Lovingly
Walter

P.S. I don't use lip-stick so cannot send you a kiss imprint on this letter. Good-night dear!
