Dearest:

No letter from you today. My mind is at rest now about your writing me daily since I know you write every day. The mail man is our enemy in being late on his deliveries. I'm not going to call you by phone this week end due to a financial embarrassment. I won't call you at all this month and I hope you don't mind my being frank about why I won't call. We are as close to each other Mom as if we were married therefore I will always be frank. Of course I could borrow the money but I must stop doing that as it is a bad habit to get into. I want to clear my debts and begin saving for the future, for our future Dear!

This week it's been cold enough to snow and the only thing that prevented snow is the dryness we have out here although the mountain tops are all white with snow. We are slackening up on the amount of crews we are training and Mountain Home, Idaho, my previous base, is getting B-32's every day. I have a hunch I'll be shipping to Mt. Home before winter sets in. I'm putting on a lot of pressure to go to San Diego to school and I might add the prospects look very good to me.

Lonesome for you Darling especially your caresses which have so much love in them. Be true to me always as I believe you are and always will be. Never let a doubt ever enter your mind about my feelings or intentions toward you. Lonesome as lonesome can be your
