Dearest,

I got your sweet, sweet letter this morning and I certainly enjoyed it. Did you go down to see Jim yet? I was hoping you would go down the same night. And Sister honey, bring out your bathing suit. We might be able to go swimming. I haven't even been swimming since I have been here.

I was so busy to-day. I helped Zella do her fall housework. And boy we sure have been working. Of course it has to be clean because we are having some extra special guest.

Well dear, I suppose I shall have to excuse you for not writing to morrow but mind you don't let it happen again.

It rained a little to-day but it is still so darned stuffy. How about your work? How are you making out with it? I mean are you working every day?

I bought myself a pair of shorts the other day. It got so unbearably hot I just couldn't stand it so I had to do some thing to cool off.

I haven't been going to school for the past few days. Yella needs some one around to help her, I mean during this time when she is having her big housecleaning.

Gosh, honey, I just can't think of a thing I forgot to say. All I think of is that I love you and can hardly wait till I see you. But I can imagine how fast the time will go.

I really think you had better wait till I can tell you come in.

Don't you think that would be better?
It would save you about $5 and after all $5 is $5. And just as soon as you get back home you've got to start saving every cent.

and you will be coming here
on or about Oct 1st for good (I hope)

Well, honey, I want to mail this out to you so you will get it to morrow.

Oh, darling, I can hardly wait to see you.

your own,

Evelyn.

P.S. I love you very, very much.
