Dear Henry,

Please forgive me for having taken so long to respond as regards the matter that Joe Hammer and you have separately brought to my attention. The explanation is neither rudeness nor lack of interest, but simply that I am presently swamped by a vast ocean of paper work, professional bookings, etc.

I'm so beat, in fact, that I'm actually reduced to mixing metaphors about oceans and swamps.

Needless to say, I was honored to have received your autobiography; and I assure you that I will be getting back in touch with you about it at the first possible moment.

I dictate this as I'm packing for another working-trip. This one takes me to New York, Elmira and Rochester and I won't be back in town for almost two weeks.

All good wishes.

Cordially,

Steve Allen
