Feb. 2nd 73.

My dear Henry,

thanks for your letter of the 30th.

the Will you forgive me, if I suggest you don't publish limerick! It is amusing, but I am afraid not amusing enough to warrant publication! *

Unfortunately I could not come to California at all; all sort of problems suddenly turned up here, quite a few unexpected trips in connection with the book -and eventually I simply could not face an other and so long trip. No new date has been set.

Will you do me a favour; please call Carl and tell him I could not come - I don't want him to think that I was there and did not get in touch with him. Thanks again and all good wishes,

Yours ever
Lund

* I you really want it published - go right ahead - I don't want to spoil your fun!
