Dearest Fink,

What a swell weekend this has been. I've just sat around, and been good and lazy. I feel so nice and rested.

Genevieve and I went over and visited Mrs. Wall for a few minutes. She asked about you, and asked to be remembered to you. As I walked in the house I thought of how we stayed there on our vacation last fall. Gee we had a good time, didn't we sweetie? We've had so many good times together, darling, and I don't think it will be very long before we'll be together again. I feel so optimistic. The news is very encouraging.

Today is Izzy and Lenore's wedding day. I'll bet you're busy as a bee helping arrange things. I wish I could be there with you, but I'm always with you in thought. We're so very close together that way, aren't we baby?

Our pictures came out, and I'm sending you a set. I hope you like them. They're numbered so if you want any enlargements just tell Genevieve which numbers you want enlarged, and she'll have them made for you.

It's been rather cool today. Seems strange after the heat of last week. I'm receiving ten words a minute now.

We had a swell dinner today. Roast beef, rice and gravy, fresh peas, hot biscuits and coffee. Home cooking sure tastes good. I woke up about eight this morning, but I never got out of bed till ten so I guess I haven't lost my knack for lying in bed on Sunday morning.

Henderson looks pretty much the same as it did when we were here last October. More soldiers on the street. I guess it's that way in every town now.

Happy Anniversary honey, Today is our day, isn't it? I love you so much, sweetie. You are the cutest, bestest, and sweetest darling wife. What a lucky day when I met you. You are my whole life, darling.

Well baby, it's allmost time for me to get ready to meet my bus.

I'm enclosing a big hug and kiss,

your own,
Jack
