My dear Andrew:

I rejoice in your arrival on this planet last December 25. Your presence among us is bound to improve the quality of the human race, a statement which I confidently make, based on my friendship with your mother and father, who are two of the most beautiful people I know. Your dad is a physician, a benefactor of mankind who needs his sleep. I want you to promise me that you will not wake your parents up at night, except maybe once or twice every hour on the hour.

About five years from now you may be old enough to endure one of my concerts. Please present this letter at the box office. It will be good for two complimentary seats in the best location, at any time.

My congratulations to all of you, including Kerry and Tessa.

Yours for ever and ever,

Henri Temianka
