Dear Henri:

I am sorry that I have been so tied up with unimportant matters that I have not been able to answer my mail.

1. I am grateful for your generous remarks about my column on the University of California. You are my most indulgent reader.

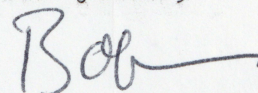

2. I am much distressed by your report of your health. I hope you are now completely recovered. I am sure you will find that your trouble is that you have been taking too much exercise.

3. I think the best thing is for Dan to use my name freely as a reference on any applications he makes.

4. I found that both Roger Revelle and Gifford Ewing were away from La Jolla for an indefinite period; Revelle has apparently left permanently. I talked on two occasions with a highly intelligent lady, ~~very~~ thoroughly familiar with you and your works, by the name of Mrs. Duffield. She promised to push Dan into any vacancies that appeared. She also said that you had a friend down there in biology or something whose name was -- I don't know how to spell it, so let's call it Kaman. She thought he might be able to drop a word for Dan in some of the right places.

Take care of yourself. Our love to Emmy.

As ever yours,

Robert M. Hutchins
President
