Dear Henri:

I am delighted to see that you are still alive. I thought you might have been washed away in the Reagan landslide or the recent flood. That would have been a real disaster.

If all goes well, I shall be back from Chicago by January 13th and shall look forward to seeing you. Could you plan to come over to the Center in the afternoon? Will Emmy be with you? I hope so.

We send you both our love. I am grateful for your kind remarks about my column. You are the only reader I have -- or at least the only one I hear from -- and for this reason alone I would want you to enjoy the best of health and spirits.

As ever yours,

Robert M. Hutchins
