Dearest Sweetheart,

Darling, did anyone ever tell you what a wonderful letter writer you are. Well, please let me, you write the sweetest, dearest, best and most interesting letters in the whole world, barring none. I read your letters over about twenty times. It does bring you a bit closer but of course never close enough. The only time that you are close enough is when I'm in your arms.

To-nite the Governor of N. C. spoke here in Henderson so everyone went but I stayed home with Julie. We listened to the Lux Radio Theatre and heard "Mrs Lucky". It's coming here this week so I guess I shall go see it. It sounded swell. Sam Holcombe offered me a job in his store. But I don't know whether or not to take it. You see I would have to work on Saturday nite till 8 or 8:30 and that is the one day that you can come in early. Besides I came down here to be with you. But anyway I want your opinion on it. I always like to ask you every thing first.

Last nite I went to the show with Sis and Betty Lou and saw "So proudly we Lail" and Darling it was marvellous!! Don't miss it. If it comes to the theatres on the part you see it. I certainly did enjoy it.

Gosh, honey, next time you come out you will be wearing your O. O.'s boy I am glad. I always did think you looked good in them. at least much better than in your Sun-tans. Boy am I going to be glad to see you. I wouldn't care if you wore your fatigue clothes I'd still love you so very very much. I had supper at Genevieve's to-night. Another went to some kind of a banquet. And Gene called up. She said she is now working at the telephone Co. I hope she sticks to it. That's a good thing to know.

Genevieve gave me another blanket so before too long I shall be all set. It sure has been cold around here. I've had to have the fire going in the stove every day since Sun. Of course that only makes two days but I pertnear froze this morning when I got up. It was so cold.

Well Darling I think I shall go to bed now and ~~to~~ dream of my sweet Cutie and my cute sweetie and my darling cuddler and my cuddly darling.

Fried
