Dear Bob:

It seems incredible that ten years ^{HAVE} passed since we celebrated your sixty-fifth birthday at your home with the Clifton Fadimans and the Mortimer Adlers. In retrospect it is perfectly obvious that those were the days of our reckless youth.

All of which is by way of preamble to sending you our loving thoughts and good wishes for your birthday on January 17. Whether we see you or not, our affectionate thoughts will always be with you and Vesta.

Yours ever,

Henri Temianka
