Dearest Sweetheart,

I received the sweetest letter from you to-day. I read it over and over. I just love to get such sweet ones from you. You mentioned something about that you want me to come back with you and wanted to know if I think it's a good idea. Well, Sweetie, I think it's a wonderful idea. I don't think there is anything I would like any better. And Darling, I want to ask you something now, too. What do you think about our taking the car back with us? I was talking to Shorty and he said that if you can get an O.K. from your commanding officer and bring it here you can get all the gas you want to go back on. And if it's at all possible I sure would like to have the car with us. Darling, I don't care

What kind of a room you find for me, after I get down there, then perhaps I can look around and find something more suitable.
I have so much to tell you that I just can't say in a letter.
So I'll have to wait till you come home.

I was over to Billy & Dolly's for supper to-night. Dolly's folks had just killed a pig and they gave Dolly a big pork roast so she called me up and asked me to come over. I was there till about 9:15 and then I went over to my folks and was there till after 11. They are leaving to-morrow morning for Baltimore and will be there for a week. you know, it's the Easter week. Phil is driving down. He sure is making hay while the sun shines. I tell you can't blame him much.

I can't find the tire registration thing any place. I have looked all over and I can't seem to place it.

maybe you know something about it, it's a cinch I don't. But then I'm kind of dumb about such matters anyway.

Darling, you are such a sweet sweetheart. I love you so very much. I can hardly wait to see you so I can show you what I mean. I'm just going to love you so much. You are my sweet little Graham Cracker boy, and I dream of the day you will come home to stay ~~over~~ and for all. Darling, that's the day my life will really begin.

Well, sweetheart, I guess I shall say good - night to my darling lover.

Lots of hugs & kisses and all my love

Your Own,
Finch.
