Darling Fink,

I'm sitting here listening to the radio. Spotlight band program. The band is Johnny Morris. I believe this is the first time I've ever heard him.

The mail service sure is terrible lately. Wonder if it will ever get straightened out.

I went to the show tonite and saw, "Sing your way home." It's getting so that you seldom see a picture that you haven't seen before. I'd seen this one in Hefzimar in the summer.

There sure has been a lot of discussion about the demonstrations the high pointers have been putting on. It should help to speed things up a little.

At present I don't know any more about coming home, but as soon as I know something I'll let you know sweetie.

Darling I love you so very much, and I'm just existing till that happy day I can take you in my arms, and never let you go.

Today we got our December 30th. issue of Yank. That's the last one. On the cover they had a big honorable discharge certificate made out for the magazine. How I'm going to love seeing my name on one of those things.

I've just read over a bunch of my letters from you sweetie. You write such wonderful ones baby dear. I just hope you like my letters half as well. I always think now I'm going to write a real good one, but I never can seem to write that good one. Anyway I like to tell you I love you sweetheart, and I miss you more every day. Soon lover all this separation will just be a memory, and we can start enjoying our good way of life together.

I'm enclosing millions of hugs and kisses and all my love.

Your own,
Jack
