Darling Fink,

I got your letter of the eleventh today sweetie. Just eleven days coming which isn't bad.

You said the car was costing a little money darling. That's just one of those things I guess. We'll have to keep the little rascal running till we can get our new convertible. By the way, how are those sealed beams working honey? Good, I hope.

I wish I had something to write you about when I'll be getting started from here, but until I know something definite I won't do any guessing.

Darling I love you so very much. I'm just existing till that happy day when I can take you in my arms, and never let you go. It's going to be so wonderful going every place, and doing everything together. Oh lover we have so much to look forward to. Life is such a sweet adventure to share with you. You're the dearest and sweetest and darlings and best wife in all the world, and I'm such a lucky fellow to have you for my own. We always had such wonderful times, but the future will be even better if that is possible. I'm in paradise when I'm with you darling. When I first come home I'll probably have to keep pinching myself to make sure I'm awake, and it's all real. You're such a cutie darling. Remember the time we had the little chocolate bunnies, and you got to looking at it, and said, "But the bunny has no bunny honey." Oh sweetie I love every little thing about you. Soon I'll be able to tell you in person, and show you how much I love you.

I'm enclosing millions of hugs and kisses and all my love.

Your own,
Jack
