Darling Fink,

I got your sweet letter of January 7th. today. Sooner or later the mail gets there. I think where it takes so much time is right here on the continent.

That sounded like a swell ride you took honey. Glad the car is running good. I'm looking forward to those nice Sunday trips.

Looks like Ben Schubert is turning into a solid citizen since he's been married. He really could have been a successful guy if it hadn't been for his drinking.

I wish they'd hurry up, and start me on my way home. I'm getting so impatient. I miss you so lover, but every day is one closer to that good one. Oh darling it's going to be so wonderful to be with you. You're such a darling wife, and I love you so very very much. It's going to be such a grand feeling to come home, and know I won't have to leave again. We always have had wonderful times, but the future will be even better if that is possible. We have so many things we'll want to do, and so many places we'll want to go. And most of all we'll make love. I'll just want to kiss and hug you all the time darling. I always marvel at how lucky I am to have you for my own precious wife. You're such a sweetie.

I'm enclosing millions of hugs and kisses and all my love.

Your own,

Jack
