Dear Mr. Bunting:

Thank you for advising me of your projected visit to California from April 9 to the 12th. I fully expect to be in Los Angeles at that time and it would give me great pleasure to meet you personally. Unfortunately, it is much too late to arrange any kind of recital or master class for you on such short notice. If you can possibly do so, you should give at least a full year's notice in advance of your next visit, as being included in University budgets is no easy matter. Also, as I myself am Professor Emeritus, I no longer have an active voice in budget allocations.

Looking forward to the pleasure of meeting you.

Yours cordially,

Henri Temianka
