Darling Wife,

I don't have much to write about sweetie, but I wanted to say hello any way.

The names of all the fellows in the company who have fifty points and up have been turned into base depot here so shortly after the first of the year we'll probably get orders to start the first step of the journey home. I'll keep you informed everytime something new comes up honey. I know you'll be sitting on edge waiting for news.

We're still having mild weather here, and I'd just as soon see it stay this way. It will be a lot better travelling than if it were cold.

The mail seems to be getting screwed up again. There was a piece in the S+S the other nite, and they said it was because of bad storms in the states. Soon lover we wont have to depend on letters. Oh darling we'll talk a leg off each other.

Remember how the pin that holds the strap on my watch was broken honey? The damn thing broke again, same one too. I took it in to be repaired today.

Darling I love you so very much, and now it looks like we can begin to count the days. I suppose the closer we get to that good day the slower time will go, but we're really on the home stretch now sweetie. It's going to be so wonderful doing everything, and going every place together. We'll be just like the Siamese Twins sweetie.

This isn't much of a letter honey, but I'll try to write a real good one tomorrow.

I'm enclosing millions of hugs and kisses and all my love.

your own,
Jack
