Darling Fink,

Another day closer to our good one sweetie. I didn't get any mail again today, but I suppose it's slowed down quite a bit on account of the holiday.

The wind is blowing like mad tonite. I wouldn't be surprised to see it get real cold, and probably snow before morning.

Darling, my letters seem to get poorer and poorer, but it won't be long now, and we can quit writing, and enjoy all our conversations in person. It's going to be so wonderful being with you lover. Lots of times I'll just want to sit and look at you. Oh darling I love you so. You'd everything I always wanted my wife to be, and didn't really believe I could find.

I'm always thinking of the wonderful times we've had together, and how grand the future will be sweetie. Everything we do is fun because we're together. It's going to be so much fun shopping with you for my new clothes honey. I don't think I'll want a brown suit for quite a while. I won't have to get many shirts tho' will I sweetie? You said I had seven or eight left. And when we go shopping will we have to get something for you too sweetie. Won't it be fun coming home with our bundles darling? We'll just spend a month doing the things we've wanted to for so long.

They changed our APO number. It's 169 now. you probably won't write many letters to this address tho' as I'll probably be leaving here shortly. The sooner the better.

Well sweetie I think I'll hit the hay and dream of my darling wife whom I love so very very much. All my love and millions of hugs and kisses.

Your lover,
Jack
