Dear Mr Temianka,

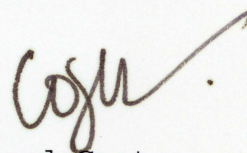

You have kindly accepted to be a member of the Committee for the celebration of the Bicentennial of the French Revolution. I would like to convey to you the gratitude of the French government for your highly appreciated patronage.

As you might know through the extensive coverage of the events by the media or, possibly by your personal participation, the celebration in Los Angeles has met with considerable success: exhibitions, concerts, conferences, lectures and festivals have gathered large audiences.

To thank you for your patronage, to celebrate this success and, eventually, to discuss with you and all the Committee members the possibility of organizing before the end of this year a last brilliant event to officially close the Bicentennial year, my wife and I would like to invite you to a Bicentennial committee reception at our residence.

We look forward to meeting you on this occasion and in the mean time remain,

Sincerely yours,

Gérard Coste
Consul Général
