Dear Norman:

If memory serves me correctly, you asked me to send you some of my limericks in token of appreciation for your noble endeavors on my behalf at UCLA. Accordingly I herewith enclose a few of these sparkling gems, blindly trusting that you will not amass a fortune by publishing them under your own name.

Yours ever,

Henri Temianka

TAILS FROM THE NORTH PACIFIC

There was a young lady in Haines
A place where it constantly rains
She practiced fellatio
At a fabulous ratio
But ~~stayed~~ dry by riding the trains.
STAY'D

Said a Japanese girl from Wenatchee,
"I've been raped by a filthy Apache
I begged him to quit
But he made me submit
On the grill of my burning hibachi."

A little old lady from Pasco
Made a fortune at selling Tabasco
A phenomenal switch
For the twirpy old bitch
As a call-girl she was a fiasco.

A charming young girl from Victoria
Went down on the Andrea Doria
While drinking champagne
With her lover, she came
And drowned in a flood of euphoria.

A gorgeous girl in Escondido
Went crazy with excess libido
When she met a young fiddler
She asked him to diddle her
And tore off his brand new tuxedo.

OTHER LIMERICKS

Said a lovely young girl in Visalia
"Get rid of your paraphernalia
Let me just get my teeth
Into what's underneath
And I'll cure whatever is ailing ya."

There once was a guy named Toulouse
Whose head ~~was~~ too close to his shoes
He painted pink nipples
Like no other French cripples
But died from an excess of booze.
