Dear Mrs. Erichson:

I received your letter yesterday and was shocked to learn that James Fields had not replied to your letter of February 3. I had been away on a concert tour myself during February, but I contacted him immediately upon receipt of your letter.

I learned that he has been very ill. He telephoned me late last night to inform me that he had called you long distance to make up for his involuntary neglect.

Please let me know if there is anything further I can do.

Yours sincerely,

HENRI TEMIANKA
