Dear Mr. Temianka:

Our chagrin is so keen that we could wear out our molars in gnashing frustration!

Your so-warm and so-gracious word from the Fenix whetted our desires to meet you and your family. Alas! When our current manuscript deadlines permitted us a short breasting spell and we phoned to the Fenix, you had already gone.

Both Temp and I hope that it won't be long before your footsteps turn Mallorca-way again. When they do, please give us another try!

We join hands in winging deep regrets, together with our best wishes for your continued health and happiness.

Cordially,

Nancy Fielding
