Dear Mr. Temianka,

I want to thank you for your early morning telephone call before I left Los Angeles for New York. It is indeed heart-warming to feel that an artist of your caliber could be so gracious as to take the trouble to let me know how you felt about my recital. I hope that the next time I am in Los Angeles I will have the pleasure of seeing you, so that I may get to know you better. Thank you again.

Now I wish to speak of something apart from this. There is a young cellist named Jerome Kaplan who is studying law at U.C.L.A. This may sound as though he is an amateur cellist, but to the contrary, he is an excellent chamber music player and a first class person for the orchestra. He would like to audition for you, so that he may eventually have some chance to play in your ensemble group which he so deeply admires. If he should get in touch with you, you will know that perhaps it may be worthwhile hearing him.

With kindest regards I am

Sincerely,

Joseph Fuchs
