Dear Henri

My mother was very insistant that it was not good enough just to say thank-you, but that it was the mark of true appreciation to write as well.

So, not only because I would like to be an obedient son, but also because I can do it with honesty, may I express my gratitude to the California Chamber Symphony Orchestra for the sixth series of concerts which you are currently presenting at the Museum on Sunday afternoons. I would like you to know that my own experience of your programs, as well as all the comments that I have heard from your audiences and my staff, confirm that what you have been presenting in our Baroque Gallery has been deeply appreciated and enjoyed.

I am pleased that we are now discussing programs which the California Symphony Orchestra might present during the next season. It will come as no surprise to your many admirers (conscious of your ebullient nature) that you have ideas for bigger and even better things in the future. For my part, I will do my best to find ways in which the Getty Museum can collaborate with you in bringing wonderful music in a wonderful setting to the music lovers of Los Angeles.

Best wishes

Yours sincerely
