Dear Don:

Your article on Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge in the current Chamber Music America is exceptionally interesting and enlightening. Incidentally, I have Mr. Sonneck's signature on a contract for a song I submitted in my student days.

In the course of our telephone conversation some time ago you mentioned the annual Coolidge commemoration at the Library of Congress on October 30. As my concert commitments are made long in advance, I would not be available this year. I shall be in the middle of a tour of thirty concerts under the auspices of Columbia Artists. Should you be considering an invitation for the following year, please let me know at your earliest convenience, so that I may keep October 30 and surrounding dates clear. Around that same time I shall be celebrating (hopefully not commemorating) my own very special birthday.

Yours cordially,

Henri
