Sunday Sept 10 1972,

My dear Annie,

Holiday time. Employees away except his ancient boss, hence stenographic people,

Boehmer is right up my street. I am flirting with possibility of making head centre for learning, especially strings.

Naturally you must protect your interests in respect to your book which I hope will be very successful. Just for my information: what were McKay's terms?
Colin, Lucy & partner are terrific workers & most intelligent. I will be obliged if you have occasion to get McKaig or any other American to contact with them with anything likely to interest them (Smythe). Only yesterday I introduced them to a friend from the "France" for whom Smythe will publish a deluxe edition of her $50 million gift of her collection to the State of Ill.

Smythe's fourth book - Angels Kaufmann - will be published in a fortnight.
I am more involved than ever in helping to build a musical Britain.

Love to you both

RM
