16th July, 1963.

Dear Henri,

How nice to hear from you. Of course, I shall be delighted to have our traditional chamber music evening and I have no objection to your proposal of inviting those people who have been so helpful to your Chamber Orchestra. In fact, I shall be delighted to meet such a very special group of people, as I know how essential they are and how heartening and welcome is the support of people who love music and who are willing to offer a sacrifice to maintain it.

I will be in London for the second half of September and perhaps we may meet at that time, as I am also playing with Oistrakh and Igor on the 28th, just before leaving for the United States.

Diana joins me in affectionate greetings to you both,

Yehudi Menuhin.
