Att: Mr. Henry Temianka

November 29, 1982

Dear Henry:

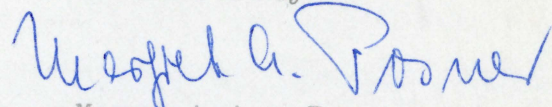

After receiving notice from the Chamber Society announcing the upcoming Sunday concerts at the J. Paul Getty Museum, I discovered to my dismay that these events have been moved from Sunday afternoons to Sunday evenings. How disappointing this is you can not imagine. For years, my husband and I (and friends) have made these concerts the highlight of our lives. It's just not going to be the same anymore. At least not for us. Well,....it was so special being at the reception after the concert in the beautiful outdoor setting..... Please forgive me,...you might say the music is what's so important." True it is....it is very much, but.....do you understand what I mean? Words can not quite express my feelings. It made everything so perfect. -----

Because of that fact, regretfully we (and friends) will not attend the concerts next season.

I just had to let you know. We are so disappointed.

Before wishing you, and all the Artist involved, the very best, please except my thanks and appreciation for all the wonderful hours we spend listening and discovering.

Sincerely

Margret Ann Posner

P.S. I know this is beyond your control
