Dearest Henri:

A few words from you always make me feel better...and your card has done it again.

I answer it merely to tell you that I am not doing well...not desperation but a sort of quiet anguish to be blamed on the three-year accumulation of losses: Marc. my accident, my son, and now my daughter. I suppose I have a right to a certain amount of emotional turmoil. At any rate, I just want to get the hell out of here...so my son and I are going off on the Crystal Harmony for a couple of weeks cruising from Barcelona to London. I know, I know - you take yourself with you...but a change of milieu and some new faces may be what I need right now. P.S. I couldn't afford the Seabourne. Pity.

I am not made of heroic stuff, as witness my current weakness. But, Henri, I am trying.

Much love from m
