Dear Mr. and Mrs. Scher,

I have found a tree surgeon ready to remove what remains of your treehouse, as none of the carpenters I contacted were willing to tackle the job. I am ready to proceed with the matter and bear the expense provided you give me your written consent in the following three matters:

- 1) Permission for the tree surgeon to enter your property, and do the job.
- 2) You will assume total responsibility for any damage to your tree caused by the removal of the wooden frame, bolts, and any other material, regardless of whether such damage is immediate or delayed.

I have just borne the heavy expense of replacing the entire roof of my studio, in consequence of the damage caused by the children's jumping from your treehouse onto my roof. I trust you appreciate the fact that I have never asked you to bear a share of this expense.

Yours sincerely,

HENRI TEMIANKA
