My dear Isaac:

While recovering from a rotorooter's attack on my prostate this past week, I had the presence of mind to discover the delightful article and photographs of you in the March Esquire. I just want you to know that it accelerated the healing process to a degree never before witnessed in the annals of urology. One nurse wondered whether the picture of the girl hiding behind the title page had anything to do with it.

I shall have an article in The Strad this month or next, which you may find of interest. It deals with three centuries of violinist-composers.

Much love from house to house,

Henri
