Dear Henri Temianka,

This is a very tardy note to say that of all the consequences of David and my parting of the ways I most regret the abrogation of your and my friendship! My extraordinary feeling of an instant affinity towards you still astounds me in retrospect, and I feel sadly bereft of contact with you.

All goes very well with me here at school - I feel quite in my element. I had a pleasant encounter with David earlier this term and was able to restore some belongings to him at long last!

I know all must be flourishing with you et al, and I wish you always the best.

Your erstwhile friend,

P.S. Best to your lovely wife.
