Folks-

Well - here it is 1988 and I am touching base, checking in - whatever -

I hope the aftermath of the trouble up in San Francisco is abating. For me, the pain of last year has retreated to just below the surface where it is readily aroused by anything that reminds me of Va. But, one goes on ...

The holiday season went well. David was out here for a week and we drove up to Aptos to see some old friends and I came back with a case of the best Clearbourne made in this state. The vintner is a pediatrician who is married to the daughter of one of my oldest friends and has developed a wine that puts out great stuff under the "Salamander" label. I'll keep one bottle for you, either to drink there or here.

I am having a lens implant done on my right eye early in Feb. I will be in L.A. Jan. 30-31 on the way down to La Jolla where the deed is to be done. The date for my departure to be a Fellow at N.I.H. is Mar. 15. Otherwise there is no news. Keep well.

Love

Martin K.

Folks—

Well – here it is 1988 and I am touching base, checking in –whatever –

I hope the aftermath of the trouble up in San Francisco is abating. For me, the pain of last year has retreated to just below the surface where it is readily aroused by anything that reminds me of Va. But, one goes on . . .

The holiday season went well. David was out here for a week and we drove up to Aptos to see some old friends and I came back with a case of the best Chardonnay made in this state. The vintner is a pediatrician who is married to the daughter of one of my oldest friends and has developed a winery that puts out great stuff under the “Salamander” label. I’ll keep one bottle for you, either to drink there or here.

I am having a lens implant done on my right eye early in Feb. I will be in L.A.
Jan. 30-31 on the way down to La Jolla where the deed is to be done. The date for my departure to be a fellow at N.I.H. is Mar. 15.
Otherwise there is no news. Keep well.
