

Rights and Terms of Use

All material in Chapman University Digital Commons, unless stated otherwise, is freely available for users around the world to view, download, and print. Except as allowed by fair use (Title 17, §107 U.S.C.) or any purposes allowed under applicable law or granted by a Creative Commons license, users may not reproduce, republish, perform, alter, transmit, distribute, or use for commercial purposes any work from this web site in any physical or digital form without the permission of the copyright owner.

For more information on fair use, please consult the Copyright and Fair Use guide.

Previously Published Works

For previously published works, the copyright owner has granted (where necessary) permission for these works to be posted in Chapman University Digital Commons.

Creative Commons-Licensed Works Posted in Chapman University Digital Commons

Some works in Chapman University Digital Commons display a Creative Commons license. The use of such works is governed by the terms of that license. For any use that exceeds the terms of the selected license, permission is required by the copyright owner of the work.

Questions?

If you have questions about any of these policies, please contact the Chair of Resources and Scholarly Communication Librarian, Kristin Laughtin-Dunker, at laughtin@chapman.edu.

Portions of the content of this document are used with permission from the coordinators of the Claremont University Consortium Scholarship@Claremont. http://scholarship.claremont.edu/Rights_Terms_of_Use.pdf